KAI MEDICAL WINS INNOVATIVE COMPANY OF THE YEAR AWARD

HONOLULU, HAWAII, October 25, 2010 –Kai Medical, an award-winning developer of wireless, non-contact vital signs measurement and monitoring products, has been named as Pacific Business News (PBN) 2010 Innovative Company of the Year. The award was presented to Dustin Shindo, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Company, at PBN’s 9th Annual Business Leadership Hawaii. Business Leadership Hawaii recognizes the depth and breadth of leadership in Hawaii’s business and has become known as Hawaii’s premier business recognition program.

“We’re honored to have received this award and to be recognized for our work in advancing the field of medical technology, and in particular, respiratory rate monitoring. Our continued focus is to develop products that enable doctors and health care professionals to measure respiratory rate frequently, accurately, and consistently,” said Dustin Shindo.

The company is currently undergoing clinical testing for two new products. The first new product referred to as the Kai Spot (v 2.1) is used to measure a patient’s point-in-time respiratory rate and is the next generation of the company’s spot check product (the previous products being the Kai Spot 100 and Kai Spot 200 which received U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) 510(k) clearance). The second new product is referred to as the Kai Continuous and is intended for continuous monitoring and measurement of respiratory rate and history.

About Kai Medical, Inc.

Headquartered in Honolulu, Hawaii, Kai Medical develops medical devices designed to measure and monitor vital signs wirelessly, with no contact, and from a distance. Kai Medical’s first two products, the Kai Spot 100 and Kai Spot 200, are the first non-contact respiratory measurement devices to receive FDA 510(k) clearance.
